

Use of cellular telephones aboard airborne aircraft should be prohibited. The cramped seating does not permit easy escape from a cellular phone abuser. There are people who will be on a phone for an entire six hour flight, perhaps talking in a loud voice, perhaps discussing intimate details. Cell phones are as much of a health hazard in confined aircraft cabins as cigarettes.